

THE DAILY NEWS.

Summer Song in the City.

BY ROBERT BUCHANAN.

This is the time of fresh wind-blowing, And cuckoo-calls and heather bells; This is the time when streams are flowing, Down the green mist of dreamy hills. Poets, O poets, sing in London lanes with me! In the deep valley spring winds blow, Shaking the dew from the white wild flowers; Beyond the cool shade of the lover, The mower waves with sleepy ease, And sweet music fills the air with melody. The meads sing, "Young love, love, Be quick to break—kiss sweet, kiss sweet! The young love breathes as sweet as clover; The old love hangs the ripened wheat. Honey, O honey, do not thou listen? Do not thou listen? Do not thou listen? The scent of summer flowers blithely, Into the dale streets' whitening haze; The white clouds part, and eyes look blither From charity lanes and weary ways; Charley, O Charley! Scatter thy bright seed fearlessly. Nor shoddy boots nor summer gold, Pleasure the soul who is so deep; Only the beggar is less cold, And a cooler temper than sleep; Power, O Power, Whisper sweet to each as he! When with the grain all England quakes, When nuts grow milky, wheat-cars burst; When barley swells all the rivers, Ah, be hungry and abstinent! Water and bread, O Charley, Bring to poor humanity. Dark is the poor one's health and lonely, He would not learn, he would not know; He would not learn the bread of wisdom, Not the sweet light that makes it grow. Fruit of the forbidden tree, But not the tree of life. Now all the days are rich with beauty, And other angels roam elsewhere; O Power! here they are thy— In darker days and fouler air, Power, O Power, Fold thy wings, and do not flee! While all the plains are heavy laden, And heavier grows the ripening ear, Peace in thy place O Power, O Power! Scatter thy bright seed with fear; Let other angels wander free, Say thou Amen to Charley!

The Millionaire Riot.

THE ORIGIN OF THE BATTLE—THE KILLED AND WOUNDED—HOW IT ENDED.

A correspondent of the New Orleans Times, writing from Houston, Texas, on the 18th instant, gives the following full report of the Millionaire riot:

For the past three days our city has been laboring under a great deal of excitement, consequent upon a riot which broke out on the 14th instant, between the white and black at the town of Milliken, Brazos County, on the Central Railroad, and which is not yet fully quieted.

The New York Commercial Advertiser, of Saturday afternoon, says:

THE PLATFORM.

The Democratic party, in National Convention assembled, reporting its trust in the intelligence, patriotism, and disinterested justice of the people; and its confidence in the constitution as the foundation and limitation of the powers of the government; and recognizing the questions of slavery and secession as having been settled for all time to come by the war, or the voluntary action of the Southern States in constitutional convention assembled, and never to be renewed or reargued, do, with the return of peace, demand:

First. Immediate restoration of all the States to their rights in the Union, under the constitution, and of civil government to the American people.

Second. Amnesty for all past political offences, and the regulation of the elective franchise in the States by their citizens.

Third. Payment of the public debt of the United States as rapidly as practicable; all money drawn from the people by taxation, except so much as is requisite for the necessities of the government, economically administered, being honestly applied to such payment; and where the obligations of the government do not expressly state upon their face, or the law under which they were issued does not provide that they shall be paid in coin, they ought, in right and in justice, be paid in the lawful money of the United States.

Fourth. Equal taxation of every species of property according to its real value, including government bonds, and other public securities.

Fifth. One currency for the government and the people, the laborer and the officeholder, the pensioner and the soldier, the producer and the bondholder.

Sixth. Economy in the administration of the government; the reduction of the standing army and navy; the abolition of the Freedmen's Bureau and all political instrumentalities designed to secure negro supremacy; simplification of the system of assessing and collecting internal revenue, so that the burden of taxation may be equalized and lessened; the credit of the government and the currency made good; the repeal of all enactments for enrolling the State militia into national forces in time of peace, and a tariff for revenue upon foreign imports, and such equal taxation under the internal revenue laws as will afford industrial protection to domestic manufactures, and as will, without impairing the revenue, impose the least burden upon and best promote and encourage the great industrial interests of the country.

Seventh. Reform of abuses in the administration, the expelling of corrupt men from office, the abrogation of useless offices, the restoration of rightful authority to the independence of the executive and judicial departments of the government, the subordination of the military to the civil power, to the end that the usurpations of Congress and the despotism of the sword may cease.

Eighth. Equal rights and protection for naturalized and native-born citizens at home and abroad, the assertion of American nationality which shall command the respect of foreign powers and furnish an example and encouragement to people struggling for national integrity, constitutional liberty, and civil rights; and the maintenance of the rights of naturalized citizens against the right of the United States to expel them, and the absolute doctrine of non-resistance to the claims of foreign powers to punish them for alleged crime committed before their jurisdiction.

In demanding these measures and reforms we affirm the Radical party its disregard of right, and the unparalleled oppression and tyranny which have marked its career.

After the most solemn and unanimous pledge of both Houses of Congress to prosecute the war exclusively for the maintenance of the government and the preservation of the Union, and the right of the people to the right of free press, and the right of the people to the right of free press, and the right of the people to the right of free press, and the right of the people
